Keep yourself updated with reunion news on this website

TAKE A LOOK AT YOURSELF

Have fun looking through all the pics in this latest photo album just posted.

There are pictures of you and your family and friends from the 60's to the present. These are all the photos you've sent us over the years.

The photos aren't in PERFECT date order . But if you can identify the year a particular photo was taken, let me know and it will be captioned correctly.

CAN'T GET THERE FROM THERE?

Then go to

Thanks for the reunion update. The webmaster is doing a fantastic job. The info & photos on the website are great. CAN'T WAIT! :-)

Don't keep your NSHS friends guessing.

Say

"Yes! I'm coming to the 50th Reunion!"

Tim Whitney (NSHS 61)

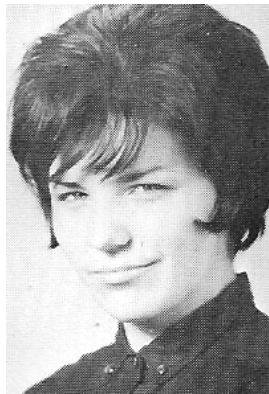

I normally just take a quick glance thru your “NEWSLETTER” as I don’t know any/many of your group.

I was really surprised, both that you guys are having a 50th reunion already and also that you are having it in the old FOX THEATER! Wow, that is quite a place! Should be fun!

We had our 50th almost 3 years ago. It was combined Salinas High and North High, class of ‘61 .....I went and I really did enjoy it! Ho Chi Tim

The Burning Question

Are you of Portuguese Descent?

Por-tu-guese (pôr'chə-gēz', -gēs', pōr'-)

adj.

Of or relating to Portugal or its people, language, or culture.

n. pl. Portuguese

1.

- a. A native or inhabitant of Portugal.
  - b. A person of Portuguese descent.
2. The Romance language of Portugal and Brazil.

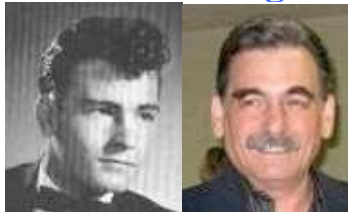

[Portuguese português, from Vulgar Latin *portugalēnsis, ultimately from Late Latin Portus Cale, the ancient port of Gaya (Oporto).]

" There are heaps of our classmates that are of Portuguese extraction.... myself, the Rodgers girls ( name changed from Rodriques), Danny Gomes, Kathy Silva, Danny Lucas (Class of '63), Janet Domingues (Class of '65). My family name was Silveira-Furtado. Most California Portuguese are from the Azores.

I wonder who else in our class is of Portuguese extraction and which of the nine islands did their family come from. Maybe you could inquire in the next newsletter.

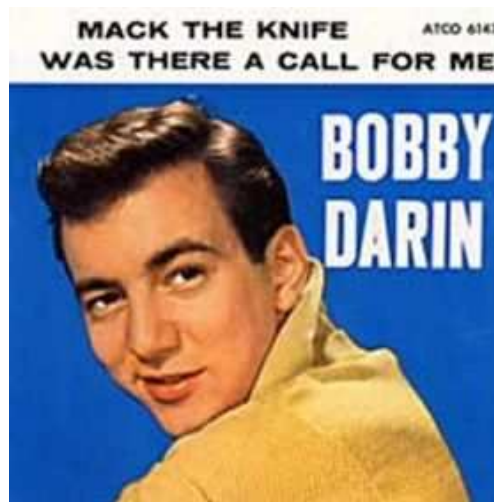

I'll bet there are quite a few.

BTW Tom Hanks is a Fraga on his mother's side. Cecile''

Greetings classmate-friend! As usual a mighty fine newsletter. In the July Newsletter , Mick Schuessler indicated that Forsythe is 20-30 miles from here.

It's actually only about 20 minutes!

Stop by when any of you are in the area.

Hope things are well with you.. Been a strange summer. Cool, hot, dry, humid...can't make up it's mind. Today we're expecting rain, but the sun keeps coming out (not complaining).

I'm heading to Santa Fe in Sept. and California via Phoenix late October. My mom will be flying back with me in early Nov. and staying till Feb. I'm hoping to get back to Scotland next June. Figured I need to do as much as I can while I'm still strong and healthy. PJ

I read about all of our recent ailing and deceased classmates. It makes me sad because, we are losing so many of our class so young!

Just recently got microsoft word loaded - guess I'll be able to read the next remembrances. Thanks for keeping us current.

My Mom in Salinas just celebrated her 91st. birthday and I stayed with her for about 20 days in July to do chores.

I'm going to use my Bonus room for a Jewelry Extravaganza in October to announce my Internet Website Shop on Etsy. I'm pretty excited about it and would like to announce it to my classmates. The address is www.etsy.com/tousleselegance. Patti

Hwy 68

Excerpts from a column

published in Salinas Californian on September 26, 2011

Written by Dave Nordstrand, dnordstrand@thecalifornian.com

Highway 68 offers glimpses of deer grazing and gnarled oaks anchored to gilded hillsides.

It also offers scant margin for error behind the wheel, as Mario Domalaog, a California Highway Patrol officer who patrols the road, well knows.

Patience, alertness and a strictly maintained “space cushion” between cars need to be at the heart of anyone’s driving strategy, he said.

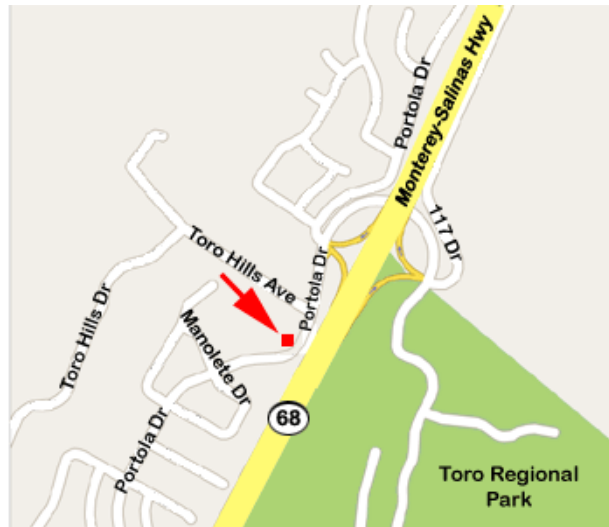

“It’s just the reality of that road,” Domalaog said. “Highway 68 means you’d better be an extremely heads-up driver even with enough room in front of you.”

Domalaog, 48, lives in the Off 68 area. He’s an Alisal High School graduate, class of 1981. He’s been a CHP officer 17 years.

“I joined late,” he said. “I was 31.”

For the past three years, he’s patrolled Highway 68, a roughly 14-mile stretch. To apply the law so motorists have a safe trip on Highway 68 is part of his job. As such, he’s become a student of Highway 68 traffic.

“From 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. is the peak [rush hour] backup east of Portola Drive,” he said.

Do not, he cautioned, try to skirt the cars in that back-up by taking to the shoulder. Do not, he said, duck out of line, cross the freeway divider and turn back toward Salinas.

“That’s against the law,” Domalaog said.

And do not look to shave a few seconds off drive time by cutting through nearby neighborhood streets.

A complex legacy

The highway he now helps patrol began life as an Indian path. Centuries later, it’s a mix of urban and rural, scenic and functional.

It's peaceful. It's poetic. It's hectic.

“It’s a complex road,” Domalaog said.

“Leaving Salinas, there’s that little shopping center, then businesses and farm access roads. Seasonally, workers are making turns to park on the side of the road.

“It goes from highway near Salinas to freeway to highway.” (Highways have cross-streets; freeways don’t).

It's a route with ample country scenery, but its legacy also includes, tragically, car wrecks, some fatal.....

Amber and red lights

Another point to consider in driving Highway 68 relates to emergency vehicles. Because the two-lane portion of the road is often clogged with cars, it can be difficult for emergency vehicles to reach a crash site, Domalaog said.

He must often maneuver his cruiser past stalled traffic. To reach an accident, he may have to drive along the shoulder.

“When we drive on the shoulder, we do it with great caution,” he said. “When most drivers see a red emergency light in their mirror, they pull over to the right.”

So, when on the shoulder, the CHP flashes only its amber lights.

“If we’re in the direct lane and we want people to move right, we’ll use our red lights,” Domalaog said.

Another way to avoid trouble on Highway 68 is to know the points that can cause unnecessary problems, Domalaog said. Torero Drive, which opens onto the highway, is one.

“There are a lot of backups and fender-benders there,” he said. “You get that accordion action.

“People just stop to let somebody [coming out of Torero Drive] into traffic. They’re being too courteous. They don’t realize Highway 68 traffic has the right-of-way there.”

Animals at risk

Frequent casualties of the roadway are animals, especially wild ones.

“I’ve seen a dead mountain lion by the road,” Domalaog said. “I get deer calls, too.

This morning there was a dead one near Seca Place.”

Coyotes trot out in plain sight. Skunks try to cross the great divide. Deer, even at night, graze near the pavement's edge.

Domalaog has dealt with cows on the road, too. None on Highway 68 got hit, but ranchers have ridden out to help him herd the creatures to safety.

“One of the cowboys said I should carry a cowboy hat in the car,” he said.

Honored for its beauty

In 1968, the state honored Highway 68 from Monterey to the Salinas River Bridge as a “California Scenic Highway.”

The highway does, indeed, offer glimpses of stunning beauty.

“The last five miles of the drive offer a magnificent stand of sycamores — Sycamore Flats — plus another change of scene created by the bottom lands of El Toro Creek,” a state Caltrans brochure reads.

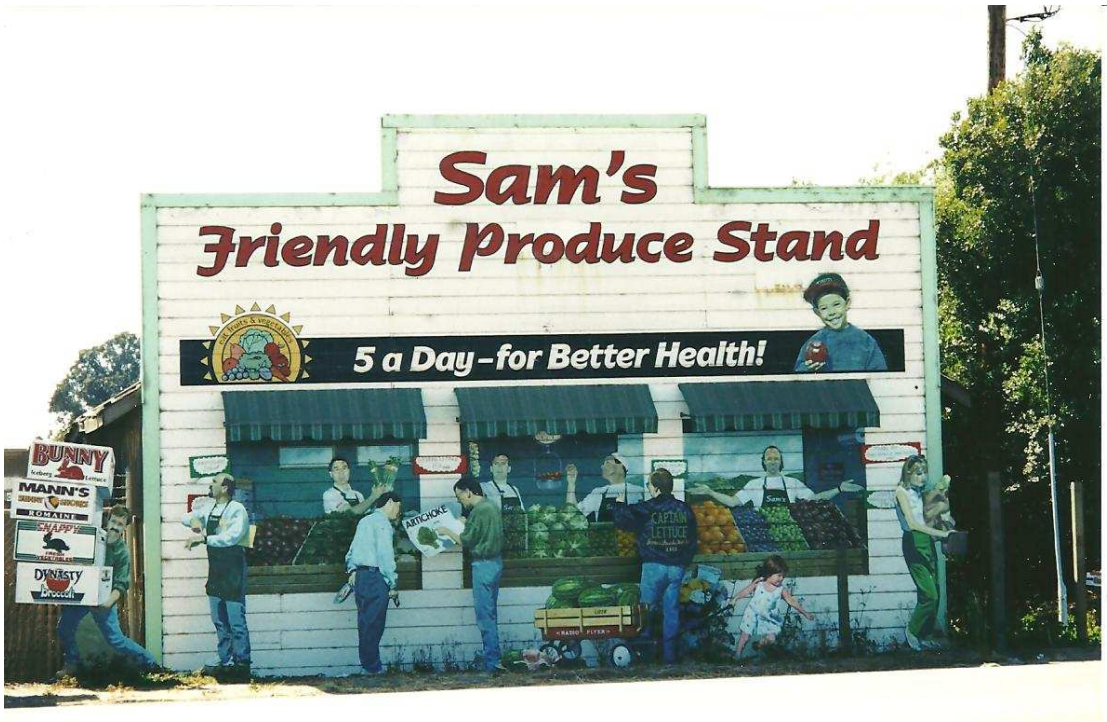

As development has flourished, as traffic has tested the road’s limits, ideas on how to improve the highway have also multiplied.

Recent upgrades include repaving the surface, new turn lanes and yellow center-line stripes with rumble strips.

“At the very least, you can see the road surface much better. That in itself is a safety factor,” Domalaog said.

Also, new permanent billboards flash digital traffic advisories and Amber Alerts at each end of the corridor.

“Overall, the improvements have helped the traffic situation,” Domalaog said.

Confucius Day - Try your luck...get a fortune cookie.

You are fearless in the face of danger...
In other words you are stupid.

You have no patience for foolishness...
You want it right away.

What? Just eat the damn cookie
I didn't have time to write fortunes today

That'll be $465.99 please. Now you know why they're called "fortune" cookies.

You are smart, level-headed, and pragmatic enough to know not to believe a fortune cookie.

You are not alone in your need for solitude.

Don't worry about avoiding temptation...
after a certain age temptation will avoid you.
